interactive

Communication is facilitated with white boards and tackboards, along with integrated worktool functionality. Accessible power and data outlets are conveniently located. Mobile technology carts house a variety of communication technology devices and stow away seamlessly into storage compartments within media and interactive presentation walls.

cohesive collection

Collective Presentation includes both freestanding furniture and wall systems. The modular wall system is comprised of whiteboard, tackboard, and technology credenzas or towers and can be configured to address both high-tech and low-tech presentations. Paired with meeting tables or lounge groupings and multi-use mobile carts, this flexible offering creates highly effective meeting environments.
